

The Wesleyan
ARGUS

SPEAKER SERIES

Paul Mason '77

ABC News Senior Vice President

"The 2008 Political Campaign: News Coverage in the Digital Age - Blogs, debates, and why your vote might not count."

Paul Mason will give an inside view of press coverage of the most compelling presidential campaign in a generation.

APRIL 9 / 7:30 P.M. in USDAN 108

Avi Salzman '00

Freelance Journalist

"Fire the Paperboy: Is there any way to save the newspaper industry?"

The country's top newspapers have lost 1.4 million subscribers over the past four years. Americans, particularly young people, get their news on the Internet, where it's free. Where does this leave journalists?

APRIL 16 / 7:30 P.M. in PAC 001

Eric Gershon '98

Hartford Courant Business Reporter

"8 Weeks, 12 Dwarves, 3 Camels and All 72 Rockettes: You Call This Work?"

Gershon will discuss the allure of journalism besides the chance to bring down 'The Man' and why you should care that newspapers are in big trouble even if you only read news online.

APRIL 23 / 7:30 P.M. in PAC 001

Refreshments will be served.

Read full bios of the speakers at wesleyanargus.com